Issues Facing Today’s Housing Market

Homes are aging
- Housing stock is aging into disrepair; average age of a home is ~40 years*

Lack of new affordable inventory
- New affordable home production not keeping pace with demand
- Builder costs are up and builder economics restrict new affordable home production
- Conversion to rental (investor) removed inventory for purchase

Turnover at a 30-year low
- Americans are not moving at the same rate as in the past, reducing available housing supply
- Rising rate environment makes “trading up” less economically viable

Eligible Renovations

Renovations must:
- Be permanently affixed to the property, but do not have to connected to the dwelling (such as a garage)
- Be compliant with state and local laws and building codes

Examples:
- Kitchen Renovation
- Bathroom Renovation
- Room Addition
- Detached garage
- Landscaping
- Pool
HomeStyle Renovation Process

Lenders must review plans and manage renovation funds

Phase 1: Loan Prep
1. Borrower works with contractor, who submits work plans and specifications to lender. (Form 1204 provides tips to consumers on working with contractors.)
2. Appraiser reviews plans and specifications, and determines “as-completed value” after improvements.
3. Lender uses Maximum Mortgage Worksheet (Form 1035) to determine mortgage amount.

Phase 2: Renovation
4. Loan is closed and may be sold to Fannie Mae. Funds for renovation are placed in custodial account.
5. Contractor begins work and requests funding.
6. Lender performs inspections to confirm work is completed, and gets lien waivers and title endorsements.
7. Lender funds draw requests with two-party checks or direct funding.

Phase 3: Completion
8. Once renovation is completed, lender orders final appraiser inspection, updates title policy, and obtains signed Completion Certificate.
9. Lender provides completion certificate to Fannie Mae to have the recourse removed.
Determining the Maximum Mortgage Amount: Purchase Transaction

Maximum Loan Amount based on LTV of the lesser of:

- “As-completed” appraised value –or–
- Purchase price + renovation cost

Use Form 1035 to calculate maximum mortgage amount

Renovation costs can be up to 75% of lesser of:

- Purchase plus renovation costs or,
- As-Completed value

Eligible renovation costs can include:

- Labor and Materials
- Soft costs (such as architect fees, required permits, title update fees, draw fees)
- Up to 10% Contingency reserve
  - Optional for 1-unit, owner-occupied properties
  - Mandatory for 2- to 4-unit properties
- Monthly PITI payments (up to six months) if borrower has to vacate the property
Let’s Look at a Purchase Example

1. Determine total purchase price including renovation costs

   Purchase Price $190,000 + Renovation Costs $45,870 = Total Price $235,870

   Labor/Material $39,500
   Soft Costs $2,200 (Architect + License + Permit Fees)
   10% Contingency $4,170 (10% x (Labor + Material + Soft Costs))
   Monthly PITI $0 (Borrower stayed in home during renovation)

2. Compare total price vs. as-completed appraisal valuation

   Purchase Price w Renovation= $235,870
   As-completed Value= $245,000

3. Take lower amount from step above. Multiply by LTV to calculate maximum loan amount.

   $235,870 x 97% = $228,794
HomeStyle Renovation and Realtors

One more thing---the Renovation product could be a key product for building relationships with realtors.

For example, a potential home buyer loves the house, the neighborhood, and the school district. But they want an updated kitchen, another bathroom, or another bedroom.

Instead of walking away from the deal, an informed realtor could offer a renovation loan—buy the house and finance the improvements that would make it their dream home.

ALSO—the Renovation loan can be used on NEW construction to finish a basement, add a deck, or a fence, or landscaping.

This benefits the lender (bigger loan balance) and the realtor (close the deal) and the home buyer (getting the home they have dreamed of owning).

HomeStyle Energy

- The HomeStyle Energy Loan allows homebuyers or homeowners to include energy and water efficiency improvements and/or disaster resiliency updates to their home as part of a home purchase or refinance loan.
- Homeowners can complete improvements that improve the energy efficiency of the home including heating and air conditioning, weatherization, renewables like solar panels, home resiliency measures and pay-off of energy improvement debt.

Community Seconds

- A Community Seconds mortgage is a subordinate mortgage that is used in connection with a first mortgage delivered to Fannie Mae.
- Although Fannie Mae does not purchase Community Seconds, we provide eligibility requirements for the subordinate Community Seconds product.
- Community Seconds mortgages permit Fannie Mae lenders to leverage public, nonprofit, and employer funds to finance a down payment and/or closing costs, thus helping more families achieve homeownership.
Opportunities with Distressed Properties

Open up new possibilities for your clients to get access to more affordable homes.

The majority of REO properties:

- Are affordable to low- and moderate-income buyers.
- Provide buyers with an avenue to purchase properties that they may not have considered previously due to needed repair.
- May provide lower-income borrowers more options to access homeownership.

HomeStyle renovation could be used in tandem with the financing of REO Properties:

- Contributes to the return of aging housing stock to viable use.
- Increases affordable housing inventory.
- Creates additional purchase options for homebuyers.
